AUTOMOBILE DEALER PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY APPROVAL OF PROPOSED SETTLEMENT WITH YAMASHITA DEFENDANTS AND
PROVISIONAL CERTIFICATION OF SETTLEMENT CLASS

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(c) and (e), Automobile Dealer Plaintiffs hereby move the Court for an Order to:

- (1) Preliminarily approve the proposed settlement of the above-captioned litigation with Yamashita Rubber Co., Ltd. and YUSA Corporation (collectively, "Yamashita Defendants")
- (2) Provisionally approve the proposed Settlement Class;
- (3) Stay the proceedings against the Yamashita Defendants in accordance with the terms of the Settlement Agreement;
- (4) Authorize Automobile Dealer Plaintiffs to provide notice of the Settlement Agreement to members of the Settlement Class in a form approved by the Court at a later time; and
- (5) Appoint Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel for Automobile Dealer Plaintiffs as Settlement Class Counsel for purposes of this settlement.

In support of this Motion, Automobile Dealer Plaintiffs rely upon and incorporate by reference herein the facts and legal arguments set forth in the accompanying Memorandum of Law.

The parties do not request a hearing for this motion. The Yamashita Defendants consent to this motion and to the entry of the proposed order.

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF AUTOMOBILE
DEALER PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY APPROVAL OF PROPOSED SETTLEMENT WITH YAMASHITA DEFENDANTS AND PROVISIONAL CERTIFICATION OF SETTLEMENT CLASS

STATEMENT OF ISSUES PRESENTED

1. Whether Automobile Dealer Plaintiffs' ("ADs") settlement with Yamashita Rubber Co., Ltd. and YUSA Corporation (collectively, "Yamashita Defendants"), embodied in the Settlement Agreement entered into on September 27, 2016 ("Settlement Agreement") and attached hereto as Exhibit 1, is fair, reasonable, and adequate and should be preliminarily approved;
2. Whether the Court should provisionally certify the Settlement Class under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 23(a) and (b)(3);
3. Whether the Court should stay the proceedings by ADs against the Yamashita Defendants in accordance with the terms of the Settlement Agreement;
4. Whether the Court should authorize Settlement Class Counsel to provide notice of the Settlement Agreement to Members of the Settlement Class (as defined in the Settlement Agreement) at a later time;¹ and
5. Whether the Court should appoint Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel for ADs as Settlement Class Counsel for this settlement.

Automobile Dealership Plaintiffs (“ADs”), on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, by and through undersigned Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel, respectfully submit this memorandum in support of their motion seeking preliminary approval of a settlement with the Yamashita Defendants and provisional certification of the proposed Settlement Class.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts are among the parts at issue in these coordinated proceedings, In re Automotive Parts Antitrust Litigation (“Auto Parts”), MDL No. 2311. For the purpose of this settlement, “Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts” is defined in Paragraph 7 of the Settlement Agreement as having the same meaning set forth in the operative complaint. See Consolidated and Amended Class Complaint ¶ 2, Case No. 2:13-cv-00802 (June 21, 2014), ECF No. 28.

This action arises from an alleged conspiracy or conspiracies among some of the automotive industry’s largest manufacturers, marketers, and sellers of Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts, to fix the prices, rig bids, and allocate the market and customers in the United States for such products.

On June 21, 2014, ADs filed their Consolidated and Amended Class Complaint (Case No. 2:13-cv-00802, ECF No. 28). On September 19, 2014, a motion to dismiss that complaint was filed collectively by Defendants, including Yamashita (ECF No. 57). On May 1, 2015, this Court granted in part and denied in part Defendants’ collective motion (ECF No. 74).

For pretrial purposes, this Court previously consolidated and coordinated the ADs cases. The Court also appointed the undersigned firms Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel and Interim Liaison Counsel for the Automobile Dealer Actions in the Master Docket for MDL No. 2311. See Case Management Order, Master Docket No. 12-md-2311 (Aug. 7, 2012, ECF No. 271). Throughout these cases, Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel has represented the interests of the class of ADs in this action, including in settlement negotiations with Yamashita. This proposed settlement is a result of those efforts.

The ADs allege that, in furtherance of the alleged conspiracy or conspiracies, Defendants agreed, during meetings and conversations, to allocate the supply of Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts and then sold those products at noncompetitive prices to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere. See generally, Consolidated and Amended Class Complaint, Case No. 2:13-cv-00802 (June 21, 2014), ECF No. 28. The United States Department of Justice (“DOJ”) has been investigating conspiracies in the market for automotive parts since at least as early as February 2010, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (“FBI”) has conducted an ongoing federal antitrust investigation into price fixing, bid rigging and other anticompetitive conduct in the automotive parts industry. As a result of the DOJ investigation, Yamashita (1) agreed to plead guilty and pay an $11 million criminal fine for engaging in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of, automotive anti-vibration rubber products sold to Honda Motor Company, Ltd., American Honda Motor Company, Inc., and Suzuki Motor Corporation in the United States and elsewhere., in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1 , and (2) agreed to cooperate with the DOJ with its investigation into alleged antitrust violations as to automotive anti-vibration rubber products. See Plea Agreement at ¶¶ 2, 9, 13, United States v. Yamashita Rubber Co. Ltd, Case No. 3:13-cr-00439-JZ (N.D. Ohio Oct. 18, 2013) (ECF No. 15). (Ex. 2)

The settlement between the ADs and Yamashita will result in a payment of $1,920,000.00. The monetary recovery from Yamashita is significant but the settlement is also valuable to the ADs because it requires Yamashita to provide comprehensive cooperation in the form of, inter alia, attorney proffers, interviews with and depositions of witnesses, and the production of certain documents (including transactional data), related to the claims asserted in these cases. This is one of the first settlements in the Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts case and ADs believe that the cooperation provided by Yamashita will provide new evidence of liability against the non-settling Defendants. The ability to obtain such information early in the litigation and without expensive discovery is quite valuable. Yamashita's cooperation will greatly enhance ADs' ability to prosecute their claims against the remaining non-settling Defendants.

Yamashita's sales will remain in the case for purposes of computing the treble damages claim against the non-settling Defendants and shall be part of any joint and several liability claims against other current or future Defendants. See Settlement Agreement ¶ 62. The ADs and the proposed Settlement Class retain their ability to recover from the remaining Defendants the entire damages caused by the alleged conspiracies, even those attributable to Yamashita, less only the amount paid by Yamashita in settlement.

ADs and their Interim Lead Counsel believe, for all the reasons set forth, the settlement with Yamashita is in the best interest of the proposed members of the Settlement Class and merits the Court's preliminary approval. ADs therefore request the entry of an Order:

1. Preliminarily approving the Settlement;
2. Provisionally certifying the proposed Settlement Class;
3. Staying the proceedings against Yamashita in accordance with the terms of the Settlement Agreement;
4. Authorizing Settlement Class Counsel to defer providing notice of the Settlement Agreement to class members until a later time; and
5. Appointing Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel for ADs as Settlement Class Counsel for this settlement.

THE BASIC TERMS AND BACKGROUND OF THE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

The Settlement Agreement with Yamashita arises from extensive arm's length and good faith negotiations. In addition to hard-fought litigation with Yamashita and the other Defendants in this case, counsel participated in fact-gathering sessions and informational meetings, as well as extensive negotiations that took place through telephone calls, in-person meetings, and other communications.

Settlement Class: The Settlement Agreement defines the Settlement Class as:

All automobile dealers that, during the period March 1, 1996 through the Execution Date, purchased new Vehicles that included one or more Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts as a component part, which were manufactured or sold by a Defendant, any current or former parent, subsidiary, or affiliate of a Defendant, or any co-conspirator of the Defendants. Excluded from the Settlement Class are Defendants, their parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates, any co-conspirators, federal government entities and instrumentalities of the federal government, and states and their subdivisions, agencies and instrumentalities.

Settlement Agreement, ¶ 13.

Settlement Amount: Yamashita has agreed to pay $1,920,000.00 within thirty (30) days following that later of (a) the entry of an order preliminarily approving this Agreement by the Court, or (b) Yamashita being provided with the account number, account name, and wiring information for the Escrow Accounts. Id. ¶ 24. The Settlement Amount shall be paid into an interest-bearing escrow account at Huntington National Bank. Id. ¶ 25.

Cooperation: Yamashita has agreed to provide cooperation to the proposed Settlement Class that will significantly aid in the prosecution of antitrust claims against the remaining Defendants. A general summary of Yamashita's cooperation obligations is provided below. The full extent of this cooperation is set forth in more detail in Section K of the Settlement Agreement. Yamashita's obligation to cooperate includes, among many other things, the duty to provide:

46. Identity of Individuals. Yamashita will provide Settlement Class Counsel with the identity of all current and former employees, directors and officers of Yamashita who: (1) were interviewed by the DOJ, JFTC, or EU in connection with alleged anticompetitive activity; or (2) appeared before the grand jury in the DOJ investigation of conduct in the Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts industries.

47. Documents. YAMASHITA will use its reasonable best efforts to substantially complete the production of the following Documents no later than 120 days after preliminary approval by the Court of the Settlement Agreement relevant documents in the files of certain custodians relating to sales, pricing, and damages regarding Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts. Relevant documents shall mean documents regarding meetings, communications, and agreements among Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts competitors regarding pricing, supply, or other information used to set prices or control supply of Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts. All currently pending discovery requests will be withdrawn, and no further discovery will be sought from any YAMASHITA entity other than as provided for in the Settlement Agreement.

48. Transactional Data. YAMASHITA will produce pre-existing transactional data related to Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts in the format maintained in the ordinary course of business and to the extent it exists in YAMASHITA's currently maintained electronic databases within sixty (60) days after preliminary approval by the Court of the Settlement Agreement. The time period for this production will be from January 1, 1994 to December 31, 2014. At the request of the Auto Dealer Plaintiffs, YAMASHITA will provide one supplement of this transactional data for the time period of January 1, 2015 to two years after the Execution Date and will do so within ninety (90) days of a request by the Auto Dealer Plaintiffs.

49. Attorney Proffers and Witness Interviews. Additionally, Yamashita shall use its reasonable best efforts to cooperate with Settlement Class Counsel as set forth below.

(a) Yamashita's counsel will make themselves available at a mutually agreed location in the United States for up to two meetings of one business day each to provide an attorney's proffer of facts known to them. Yamashita further agrees to make reasonable best efforts to make four (4) persons, whose identities will be chosen jointly by End-Payor Plaintiffs and Automobile Dealer Plaintiffs, available for interviews and depositions, provide four (4) declarations or affidavits from the same persons, and make those persons available to testify at trial. Each deposition shall be conducted at a mutually agreed-upon location, and shall be limited to a total of seven (7) hours over one (1) day unless the deposition is in a language other than English, in which case each deposition shall be limited to a total of thirteen (13) hours over two (2) days.

(b) In addition to its Cooperation obligations set forth herein, at the request of Automobile Dealer Plaintiffs and subject to agreement with Yamashita, Yamashita agrees to use reasonable efforts to provide affidavit(s) or written declaration(s) and/or at trial, in Settlement Class Counsel's discretion, representatives qualified to authenticate, establish as business records, or otherwise establish any other necessary foundation for admission into evidence of any documents or transactional data produced or to be produced by Yamashita. Settlement Class Counsel agree to use their best efforts to obtain stipulations that would avoid the need to call Yamashita witnesses at trial for the purpose of obtaining such evidentiary foundations.

(c) In addition, after conducting a reasonable search, Yamashita shall, to the best of its knowledge, identify those Vehicles sold in the United States from 1996 through the Execution Date that contain Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts sold by Yamashita.

Id. at ¶¶ 46-49.

Released Claims: The Settlement Agreement releases only Yamashita (and its respective past and present, direct and indirect, parents, subsidiaries, associates, and affiliates, including but not limited to the predecessors, successors and assigns of each of the above; and each and all of the present and former principals, partners, officers, directors, supervisors, employees, agents, stockholders, members, representatives, insurers, attorneys, heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns of each of the foregoing) from all Settlement Class Member claims arising out of or relating in any way to any conduct alleged in the Complaint, or any act or omission of Yamashita, concerning Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts. See id at ¶ 22.

The release does not include (1) any claims made by direct purchasers Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts as to such direct purchasers; (2) any claims made by End-Payor purchasers of Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts; (3) any claims made by truck and equipment dealerships that are indirect purchasers of Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts to the extent those claims are based on Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts intended to be used in something other than Vehicles (as Vehicles is defined in the Settlement Agreement); (4) any claims made by any state, state agency, or instrumentality or political subdivision of a state as to government purchases and/or penalties; (5) claims involving any negligence, personal injury, breach of contract, bailment, failure to deliver lost goods, damaged or delayed goods, product defect, securities or similar claim relating to Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts; (6) claims concerning any automotive part other than Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts; (7) claims under laws other than those of the United States relating to purchases of Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts made outside of the United States; and (8) damage claims under the state or local laws of any jurisdiction other than an Indirect Purchaser State. Id.

ARGUMENT

The Settlement Agreement is fair, reasonable, and adequate—resulting from extensive, arm’s length negotiations by experienced counsel—and is also a resolution of the proposed Settlement Class’ claims that maximizes their recovery and guarantees early, significant cooperation by Yamashita in the continued prosecution of ADs’ claims.

I. Preliminary Approval Should Be Granted Because the Proposed Settlement Falls Well Within the Range of Possible Approval.

There is an overriding public interest in settling and quieting litigation, particularly class actions. See Griffin v. Flagstar Bancorp, Inc., Case No. 2:10-cv-10610, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 173702, at *6 (E.D. Mich. Dec. 12, 2013) (citing UAW v. Gen. Motors. Corp., 497 F.3d 615, 631 (6th Cir. 2007) (noting “the federal policy favoring settlement of class actions”)); see also IUE-CWA v. Gen. Motors Corp., 238 F.R.D. 583, 593 (E.D. Mich. 2006). “This policy applies with equal force whether the settlement is partial, involving only some of the defendants, or complete.” In re Packaged Ice Antitrust Litig., Case No. 08-MD-01952, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17255, at *44 (E.D. Mich. Feb. 22, 2011) (“Packaged Ice”); see also Agretti v. ANR Freight Sys., Inc., 982 F.2d 242, 247 (7th Cir. 1992) (“In complex litigation with a plaintiff class, ‘partial settlements often play a vital role in resolving class actions’” (quoting MANUAL FOR COMPLEX LITIGATION (SECOND) § 30.46 (1986)). In fact, “settlement should be facilitated at as early a stage of the litigation as possible.” 6A CHARLES ALAN WRIGHT & ARTHUR R. MILLER, FEDERAL PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE § 1522, at 225-26 (2d ed. 1990) (citing 1983 Advisory Committee Notes); see also MANUAL FOR COMPLEX LITIGATION (FOURTH) § 13.12 (2004) (“Manual”) (“[S]ettlement should be explored early in the case.”).

Approval of a proposed class action settlement proceeds in two steps. First, the court grants preliminary approval to the settlement and provisionally certifies settlement class. Second, after notice of the settlement is provided to the class and the court conducts a fairness hearing, the court may grant final approval to the settlement. See Manual § 21.63; see also Bobbitt v. Acad. of Reporting, 2009 WL 2168833, at *1 (E.D. Mich. Jul. 21, 2009) (citing authorities).

A proposed settlement agreement should be preliminarily approved if “the preliminary evaluation of the proposed settlement does not disclose grounds to doubt its fairness or other obvious deficiencies . . . and [the settlement] appears to fall within the range of possible approval.” Manual § 30.41 at 237; see also Int’l Union, UAW v. Ford Motor Co., Case Nos. 05-74730, 06-10331, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 70471, at *11 (E.D. Mich. July 13, 2006). The district court’s role in reviewing settlements “must be limited to the extent necessary to reach a reasoned judgment that the agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching by, or collusion between, the negotiating parties, and that the settlement, taken as a whole, is fair, reasonable and adequate to all concerned.” Clark Equip. Co. v Int’l Union of Allied Industrial Workers of Am., 803 F.2d 878, 880 (6th Cir. 1986). Courts adhere to “an initial presumption of fairness when a proposed class settlement, which was negotiated at arm’s length by counsel for the class, is presented for court approval.” 4 HERBERT B. NEWBERG & ALBA CONTE, NEWBERG ON CLASS ACTIONS § 11.41 (4th ed. 2005) (“Newberg”) (collecting cases); cf. Rankin v. Rots, No. 02-cv-71045, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 45706, at *9 (E.D. Mich. June 28, 2006) (“[T]he only question . . . is whether the settlement, taken as a whole, is so unfair on its face as to preclude judicial approval.”) (internal quotation marks omitted).

In considering whether to grant preliminary approval, the court is not required at this point to make a final determination of the adequacy of the settlement or to delve extensively into the merits of the settlement. See In re Sulzer Hip Prosthesis & Knee Prosthesis Liab. Litig., Case No. 1:01-CV-9000, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26714, at *17 (E.D. Ohio Oct. 19, 2001) (“Sulzer Hip”). These inquiries are reserved for the final approval stage of the class settlement approval process. Nor will any class member’s substantive rights be prejudiced by preliminary approval because the proposed preliminary approval is solely to provide authority for notifying the class of the terms of the settlement agreement to set the stage for review of its final approval. Id.; Newburg § 11.25. Consequently, courts generally engage only in a limited inquiry to determine whether a proposed settlement falls within the range of possible approval and thus should be preliminarily approved. Sulzer Hip, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26714, at *17-18 (preliminary approval may be based on “informal presentations” because of “substantial judicial processes that remain”) (quoting MANUAL FOR COMPLEX LITIGATION (THIRD) § 30.41, at 235 (1995)). See also In re Packaged Ice Antitrust Litig., No. 08-MD-01952, 2010 WL 3070161, at *4 (E.D. Mich. Aug. 2, 2010), quoting Gautreaux v. Pierce, 690 F.2d 616, 621 n.3 (7th Cir. 1982) (inquiry limited to settlement’s potential for final approval and propriety of class notice and fairness hearing).

In evaluating whether a settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate, courts in the Sixth Circuit consider a number of factors:

(1) the likelihood of success on the merits weighed against the amount and form of relief in the settlement; (2) the complexity expense and likely duration of the litigation; (3) the opinions of class counsel and class representatives; (4) the amount of discovery engaged in by the parties; (5) the reaction of absent class members; (6) the risk of fraud or collusion; and (7) the public interest. The Court may choose to consider only those factors that are relevant to the settlement at hand and may weigh particular factors according to the demands of the case.

Packaged Ice, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17255, at *46-47 (quotation marks and citations omitted). A court is not required, at the preliminary approval stage, to determine whether it ultimately will finally approve the settlement. Nevertheless, as set forth in detail below, preliminary consideration of the factors a court considers when evaluating the fairness of a settlement for purposes of deciding whether to grant final approval supports this Court’s granting preliminary approval of the Settlement Agreement.

A. The Settlement Agreement Achieves an Excellent Result for the Proposed Settlement Class, Particularly Given the Expense, Duration, and Uncertainty of Continued Litigation.

Antitrust class actions are “arguably the most complex action(s) to prosecute. The legal and factual issues involved are always numerous and uncertain in outcome.” In re Packaged Ice Antitrust Litig., Case No. 08-MDL-01952, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 150427, at *76 (E.D. Mich. Dec. 13, 2011) (quoting In re Linerboard Antitrust Litig., 292 F. Supp. 2d 631, 639 (E.D. Pa. 2003)); see also In re Cardizem CD Antitrust Litig., 218 F.R.D. 508, 533 (E.D. Mich. 2003) (“Cardizem”) (“Moreover, the complexity of this case cannot be overstated. Antitrust class actions are inherently complex”). Motions have already been vigorously contested, and the discovery process would be all the more complicated due to the unique issues that attend discovery against foreign parties.²

Yamashita has asserted various defenses, and a jury trial might well turn on close questions of proof, many of which would be the subject of complicated expert testimony, particularly with regard to damages, making the outcome of such trial uncertain for both parties. See, e.g., Cardizem, 218 F.R.D. at 523 (in approving settlement, noting that “the prospect of a trial necessarily involves the risk that Plaintiffs would obtain little or no recovery and that “no matter how confident trial counsel may be, they cannot predict with 100% accuracy a jury’s favorable verdict, particularly in complex antitrust litigation”); Packaged Ice, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17255, at *53-54 (noting the “undeniable inherent risks” in antitrust class action litigation including “whether the class will be certified and upheld on appeal, whether the conspiracies as alleged in the Complaint can be established, whether Plaintiffs will be able to demonstrate class wide antitrust impact and ultimately whether Plaintiffs will be able to prove damages”). Id. Given this uncertainty, “[a] very large bird in the hand in this litigation is surely worth more than whatever birds are lurking in the bushes.” In re Chambers Dev. Sec. Litig., 912 F. Supp. 822, 838 (W.D. Pa. 1995).

Moreover, given the stakes involved, an appeal is nearly certain to follow regardless of the outcome at trial. This creates additional risk, as judgments following trial may be overturned on appeal. See, e.g., In re Farmers Ins. Exchange, Claims Representatives’ Overtime Pay Litig., 481 F.3d 1119 (9th Cir. 2007) ($52.5 million class action judgment following trial reversed on appeal); Robbins v. Koger Props., Inc., 116 F.3d 1441 (11th Cir. 1997) (jury verdict of $81 million for plaintiffs reversed and judgment entered for defendant). And even if class members were willing to assume all of the litigation risks, the passage of time would introduce still more risks in terms of appeals and possible changes in the law that would, in light of the time value of money, make future recoveries less valuable than recovery today. See In re Warfarin Sodium Antitrust Litig., 391 F.3d 516, 536 (3d Cir. 2004) (“[I]t was inevitable that post-trial motions and appeals would not only further prolong the litigation but also reduce the value of any recovery to the class.”); In re Rent-Way Sec. Litig., 305 F. Supp. 2d 491, 501 (W.D. Pa. 2003) (“[A] future recovery, even one in excess of the proposed Settlement, may ultimately prove less valuable to the Classes than receiving the benefits of the proposed Settlement at this time”). Hence, “the certain and immediate benefits to the Class represented by the Settlement outweigh the possibility of obtaining a better result at trial, particularly when factoring in the additional expense and long delay inherent in prosecuting this complex litigation through trial and appeal.” Cardizem, 218 F.R.D. at 525.

Against this background, an early settlement providing the substantial benefits afforded here represents an excellent result for the members of the proposed Settlement Class. Yamashita’s $1,920,000.00 payment provides significant compensation to the proposed Settlement Class that will be available years earlier than would be the case if litigation against Yamashita continued through trial and appeal. Settlements of this type, which come before discovery has been completed, create value beyond their direct pecuniary benefit to the class. See Packaged Ice, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17255, at *50-51 (noting “significant value” of icebreaker settlement); Linerboard, 292 F. Supp. 2d at 643; In re Corrugated Container Antitrust Litig., 1981 WL 2093, *16 (S.D. Tex. Jan. 27, 1981) (“Corrugated Container”).

The Settlement Agreement requires Yamashita to provide cooperation to the ADs’ counsel by providing transactional data, factual proffers, interviews, documents, depositions, and trial testimony, among other cooperation. See Settlement Agreement § K (¶¶ 45-54). This cooperation is extremely valuable and the cooperation facilitated by the Settlement Agreement will afford the ADs access to transactional data, documents, and witnesses without protracted litigation and expensive discovery—a significant class-wide benefit. See, e.g., In re Packaged Ice Antitrust Litig., Case No. 08-MD-01952, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 77645, at *44 (E.D. Mich. Aug. 2, 2010) (“Particularly where, as here, there is the potential for a significant benefit to the class in the form of cooperation on the part of the settling Defendant, this Court is reluctant to refuse to consider the very preliminary approval that will trigger that cooperation”); see also Linerboard, 292 F. Supp. 2d at 643; Corrugated Container, 1981 WL 2093, at *16; cf. In re Pressure Sensitive Labelstock Antitrust Litig., 584 F. Supp. 2d 697, 702 (M.D. Pa. 2008) (“[T]he benefit of obtaining the cooperation of the Settling Defendants tends to offset the fact that they would be able to withstand a larger judgment.”).

For this part, this is an early settlement. The value of an early settlement can be so great that early-settling defendants often obtain a discount relative to the remaining defendants. The Linerboard court, for example, approved a settlement with the first-settling defendant for less than one percent of sales and approximately one-third of the percentage of sales obtained from the other defendants. Compare Linerboard, 292 F. Supp. 2d at 643 (approving icebreaker settlement for approximately 0.4% of sales), with In re Linerboard Antitrust Litig., 321 F. Supp. 2d 619, 633 (E.D. Pa. 2004) (approving settlements with final two defendants for 1.6% and 2% of sales). In accepting this discounted recovery from the first-settling defendants, the Linerboard court emphasized the “substantial” intangible benefit to the class of the icebreaker agreement. 292 F. Supp. 2d at 643.

The Settlement Agreement does not alter the non-settling Defendants’ joint and several liability for the full damages caused by the alleged conspiracies, including all sales made by these Defendants. See Settlement Agreement ¶ 62. In this regard, the Settlement Agreement is similar to one of the settlements approved in Corrugated Container, where the court noted the “valuable provision” under which plaintiffs reserved their right to recover full damages from the remaining defendants, less the actual amount of the initial settlement. 1981 WL 2093, at *17; see also In re Uranium Antitrust Litig., 617 F.2d 1248 (7th Cir. 1980); In re Ampicillin Antitrust Litig., 82 F.R.D. 652, 654 (D.D.C. 1979) (approving settlement where class will “relinquish no part of its potential recovery” due to joint and several liability). The ADs will be able to pursue their full damages, with no diminution other than deduction of the actual Yamashita settlement amount.

B. The Settlement Agreement is the Result of Thorough Arm’s-Length Negotiations Conducted by Highly Experienced Counsel.

This settlement is entitled to “an initial presumption of fairness” because it is the result of arm’s-length negotiations among experienced counsel.³ Newberg § 11.41. The judgment of proposed Settlement Class Counsel that the settlement is in the best interest of the proposed Settlement Class “is entitled to significant weight, and supports the fairness of the class settlement.” Sheick v. Auto Component Carrier LCC, Case No. 2:09-cv-14429, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 110411, at *51 (E.D. Mich. Oct. 18, 2010) (quoting IUE-CWA, 238 F.R.D. at 597); see also Cardizem, 218 F.R.D. at 525. Courts give great weight to the recommendation of experienced counsel for the parties in evaluating the adequacy of a settlement.

“Preliminary approval of a proposed settlement is based upon the court’s familiarity with the issues and evidence, as well as the arms-length nature of the negotiations prior to the proposed settlement, ensuring that the proposed settlement is not illegal or collusive.” Thacker v. Chesapeake Appalachia, L.L.C., 259 F.R.D. 262 (E.D. Ky. 2009) (quoting In re Dun & Bradstreet Credit Servs. Customer Litig., 130 F.R.D. 366, 370 (S.D. Ohio 1990)). The Settlement Agreement is the result of lengthy negotiations between counsel experienced in complex antitrust and consumer class action litigation. The amount of the settlement and the Settlement Agreement terms were negotiated for months by Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel and counsel for Yamashita. Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel undertook a diligent and thorough investigation of the legal and factual issues posed by this litigation and consulted extensively with experienced economists before negotiating this deal.

Counsel for the ADs was well-informed about the facts and the strength of the claims asserted when the terms of the Settlement Agreement were initially negotiated. See Packaged Ice, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17255, at *56 (“[T]he absence of formal discovery is not an obstacle [to settlement approval] so long as the parties and the Court have adequate information in order to evaluate the relative position of the parties.”) (quotation marks and citation omitted); Griffin v. Flagstar Bancorp, Inc., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 173702 (same).

Moreover, these negotiations were adversarial and conducted in the utmost good faith. “Courts presume the absence of fraud or collusion in class action settlements unless there is evidence to the contrary.” Leonhardt v. ArvinMeritor, Inc., 581 F. Supp. 2d 818, 838 (E.D. Mich. 2008); Bowers v. Windstream Ky. East, LLC, Civil Action No. 3:09-CV-440-H, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 157242, at *5 (W.D. Ky. Nov. 1, 2013). There is nothing in the course of the negotiations or the substance of the settlement that “disclose[s] grounds to doubt its fairness.” Manual § 30.41.

II. The Proposed Settlement Class Should Be Provisionally Certified Pursuant to Rule 23.

The Manual notes the propriety of certifying a class solely for purposes of settlement, see Manual § 21.32, and courts in this Circuit routinely provisionally approve a proposed settlement class before deciding plaintiffs' motion for class certification. See, e.g., In re Delphi Corp. Sec. Derivatives & ERISA Litig., 248 F.R.D. 483, 486 n. 2 (E.D. Mich. 2008) (granting final approval to both ERISA and Securities settlement classes, noting the court's earlier, preliminary approval of the settlement classes granted prior to a hearing on defendants' motions to dismiss); Cardizem, 218 F.R.D. at 516-17, 530 (granting final approval of proposed settlement, noting its earlier preliminary approval of both the proposed settlement class and the proposed settlement agreement granted prior to class certification and prior to hearing on motions to dismiss). A court may grant provisional certification where, as here, the proposed settlement class satisfies the four prerequisites of Rule 23(a) (numerosity, commonality, typicality and adequacy), as well as one of the three subsections of Rule 23(b). See In re Packaged Ice Antitrust Litig., No. 08-MD-01952, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 140235, at *27-28 (E.D. Mich. Sept. 2, 2010).

While the Supreme Court recently reiterated that a trial court must conduct a “rigorous analysis” to confirm that the requirements of Rule 23 have been met, Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 131 S. Ct. 2541, 2551 (2011), “the requisite ‘rigorous analysis’ of the record and consideration of the merits must be focused on and limited to the question whether the Rule’s requirements have been established.” Cason-Merenda v. VHS of Mich., Inc., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 131006, at *20-21 (E.D. Mich. Sept. 13, 2013) (citing In re Whirlpool Corp. Front-Loading Washer Prods. Liab. Litig., 722 F.3d 838, 851-52 (6th Cir. 2013)). Permissible inquiry into the merits of plaintiffs’ claims at the class certification stage is limited:

Rule 23 grants courts no license to engage in free-ranging merits inquiries at the class certification stage. Merits questions may be considered to the extent—but only to the extent—that they are relevant to determining whether the Rule 23 prerequisites for class certification are satisfied.

Amgen Inc. v. Conn. Ret. Plans & Trust Funds, 133 S. Ct. 1184, 1194-95 (2013) (“Amgen”) (citing Dukes, 131 S. Ct. at 2552 n.6). “In other words, district courts may not turn the class certification proceedings into a dress rehearsal for the trial on the merits.” In re Whirlpool Corp., 722 F.3d 838, 851-52 (internal quotation marks and citation omitted). Here, as demonstrated below, even under a “rigorous analysis,” the requirements of Rule 23 are easily met.

A. The Proposed Settlement Class Meet the Requirements of Rule 23(a).

Horizontal price fixing class actions are routinely certified in this District and elsewhere. ADs’ allegations of “a per se violation of the antitrust laws are exactly the kind of allegations which may be proven on a class-wide basis through common proof.” In re Southeastern Milk Antitrust Litig., Master File No. 2:09-MD-1000, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 94223, at *35 (E.D. Tenn. Sept. 7, 2010). “Courts have held that the existence of a conspiracy is the predominant issue in price fixing cases, warranting certification of the class even where significant individual issues are present.” Id. at *33 (internal quotation marks and citations omitted). “As a rule of thumb, a price fixing antitrust conspiracy model is generally regarded as well suited for class treatment.” In re Foundry Resins Antitrust Litig., 242 F.R.D. 393, 409 (S.D. Ohio 2007); see also Hyland v. Homeservices of Am., Inc., Case No. 3:05-CV-612-R, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 90892, at *12 (W.D. Ky. Nov. 6, 2008).

i. The Proposed Settlement Class Are so Numerous That it is Impracticable to Bring All Class Members Before the Court.

No magic number is required to satisfy the numerosity requirement of Rule 23(a)(1). Miller v. Univ. of Cincinnati, 241 F.R.D. 285, 288 (S.D. Ohio 2006). A class representative need only show that joining all members of the potential class is extremely difficult or inconvenient. Golden v. City of Columbus, 404 F.3d 950, 965 (6th Cir. 2005). The “sheer number of potential litigants in a class, especially if it is more than several hundred, can be the only factor needed to satisfy Rule 23(a)(1).”

In re Foundry Resins Antitrust Litig., 242 F.R.D. at 403 (citing Bacon v. Honda of America Mfg., Inc., 370 F.3d 565, 570 (6th Cir. 2004)); see also In re Am. Med. Sys., Inc., 75 F.3d 1069, 1079 (6th Cir. 1996).

The proposed settlement class at issue in this action involves all automobile dealers in the U.S. from March 1, 1996 to the Execution Date that purchased one or more new automobiles containing Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts, or that indirectly purchased Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts as replacement parts. Because there are thousands of such new vehicle dealerships geographically distributed throughout the United States, joinder is highly impractical, if not impossible, for all of the proposed Settlement Class.

ii. Automobile Dealer Plaintiff Class Representatives and the Proposed Settlement Class Share Common Legal and Factual Questions.

Commonality only requires that “there are questions of law or fact common to the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(2). While Rule 23(a)(2) speaks of questions of law or fact in the plural, “there need be only one common question to certify a class.” In re Whirlpool Corp. Front-Loading Washer Prods. Liab. Litig., 722 F.3d at 853; see also Cason-Merenda, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 131006, at *22 (one common question of law or fact is sufficient); Griffin v. Flagstar Bancorp Inc., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 173702 (same); Date v. Sony Elecs., Inc., Case No. 07-15474, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 108095, at *10 (E.D. Mich. July 31, 2013) (same).

This prerequisite is readily satisfied here because “antitrust price-fixing conspiracy cases, by their nature, deal with common legal and factual questions about the existence, scope and effect of the alleged conspiracy.” In re Aluminum Phosphide Antitrust Litig., 160 F.R.D. 609, 613 (D. Kan. 1995). Thus, in price fixing cases, courts “have consistently held that the very nature of a conspiracy in an antitrust action compels a finding that common questions of law and fact exist.” In re Dynamic Random Access Memory (DRAM) Antitrust Litig., No. M 02-1486 PJH, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 39841 (N.D. Cal. June 5, 2006); see also Newberg § 3:10 at 278 (“[In an] antitrust action on behalf of purchasers who have bought defendants’ products at prices that have been maintained above competitive levels by unlawful conduct, the courts have held that the existence of an alleged conspiracy or monopoly is a common issue that will satisfy the Rule 23(a)(2) prerequisite”).

Through the course of this litigation, ADs have already identified the following issues common to the proposed Settlement Class:

- Whether Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain or stabilize the prices of or rig bids for Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts sold in the United States;
- The identity of the participants of the alleged conspiracy;
- The duration of the alleged conspiracy and the acts carried out by Defendants and their co-conspirators in furtherance of the conspiracy;
- Whether the conspiracy violated state antitrust and unfair competition laws;
- Whether Defendants unjustly enriched themselves to the detriment of the Plaintiffs and the members of the Class;
- Whether the conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators caused injury to the business or property of Plaintiffs and the members of the Class;
- The effect of the conspiracy on the prices of the relevant parts sold in the United States during the Class Period;
- Whether the Defendants and their co-conspirators fraudulently concealed the conspiracy's existence from the Plaintiffs and the members of the Class; and
- The appropriate class-wide measure of damages, injunctive, and equitable relief for members of the Class.

(See Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts Compl. ¶ 227.) Any one of these substantive issues would, standing alone, establish the requisite commonality under Rule 23(a)(2).

iii. Automobile Dealer Plaintiff Class Representatives' Claims are Typical of the Claims of the Members of the Proposed Settlement Class.

Third, Rule 23(a) requires typicality of the class representatives' claims. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(3). “The [typicality] requirement is not onerous,” Int'l Union, UAW v. Ford Motor Co., 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 70471, at *54, and courts liberally construe it. See In re Foundry Resins Antitrust Litig., 242

F.R.D. at 403. “In the antitrust context, typicality is established when the named plaintiffs and all class members allege[] the same antitrust violation by defendants.” Cason-Merenda, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 131006, at *25 (quoting In re Foundry Resins Antitrust Litig., 242 F.R.D. at 405); see also Stout v. J.D. Byrider, 228 F.3d 709, 717 (6th Cir. 2000); In re Am. Med. Sys., 75 F.3d at 1082; Packaged Ice, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17255, at *40-41. “If there is a strong similarity of legal theories, the requirement [of typicality] is met, even if there are factual distinctions among named and absent class members.” Griffin v. Flagstar Bancorp, Inc., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 173702, at *17-18 (quotation marks and citation omitted); Packaged Ice, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17255, at *40 (same).

Because the AD Plaintiff Class representatives and the members of the proposed Settlement Class believe they are all victims of the conspiracies to fix prices, rig bids, and allocate the market and customers for Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts and seek the same relief, Rule 23(a)(3) is satisfied. See Cason-Merenda, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 131006, at *26 (finding typicality met where “the claims of the named Plaintiffs and those of the remaining members of the proposed class all arise from the same conspiracy and are based on the same theory of liability under the Sherman Act.”) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted)); Packaged Ice, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17255, at *40-41 (“Because all Class Members’ claims arise from . . . a conspiracy to allocate markets in violation of the Sherman Act, their claims are based on the same legal theory and the typicality requirement . . . is met”).

iv. Proposed Settlement Class Counsel and Automobile Dealer Plaintiff Class Representatives Will Fairly and Adequately Protect the Interests of the Proposed Settlement Class.

The final requirement of Rule 23(a) is that the representative parties “fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(4). The Sixth Circuit has articulated two criteria for determining adequacy of representation: “1) [t]he representative must have common interests with unnamed members of the class, and 2) it must appear that the representatives will vigorously prosecute the interests of the class through qualified counsel.”” In re Foundry Resins Antitrust Litig., 242 F.R.D. at 407 (quoting Senter v. Gen. Motors Corp., 532 F.2d 511, 525 (6th Cir. 1976)). ADs submit that there are no conflicts between them and the co-proposed Settlement Class because ADs and members of the proposed Settlement Class: (i) purchased in the United States new automobiles containing Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts; and/or (ii) indirectly purchased Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts, have the same interest in establishing liability, and all seek damages for the ensuing overcharge. See In re Corrugated Container Antitrust Litig., 643 F.2d 195, 208 (5th Cir. 1981) (certifying settlement class and holding that “so long as all class members are united in asserting a common right, such as achieving the maximum possible recovery for the class, the class interests are not antagonistic for representation purposes” (internal quotation marks and citation omitted)). ADs and the members of the proposed Settlement Class also share a common interest in obtaining Yamashita’s substantial cooperation in prosecuting the claims against the non-settling Defendants.

Rule 23(g) requires the Court to examine the capabilities and resources of class counsel to determine whether they will provide adequate representation to the class. The proposed Settlement Class is represented by counsel with extensive experience in antitrust and class action litigation. They have vigorously prosecuted the class claims, and they will continue to do so through all phases of the litigation, including trial. See Marcus v. Dep’t of Revenue, 206 F.R.D. 509, 512 (D. Kan. 2002) (“In absence of evidence to the contrary, courts will presume the proposed class counsel is adequately competent to conduct the proposed litigation”). The Court appointed Cuneo Gilbert & LaDuca, LLP, and Larson • King, LLP as Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel in this action and the other automotive parts antitrust cases within Master File No. 2:12-md-2311. See Case Management Order No. 3 filed as ECF No. 271. For the same reasons that the Court appointed them to this position, it should appoint them Settlement Class Counsel here.

B. The Proposed Settlement Class Meet the Requirements of Rule 23(b)(3).

To qualify for certification under Rule 23(b)(3), a class must meet two requirements beyond the Rule 23(a) prerequisites: common questions must predominate over any questions affecting only individual members; and class resolution must be superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy. Amchem Prods., Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 615 (1997) (“Amchem”); see also In re Scrap Metal Antitrust Litig., 527 F.3d 517, 535 (6th Cir. 2008). With respect to both requirements, the Court need not inquire whether the “case, if tried, would present intractable management problems, for the proposal is that there be no trial.” Amchem, 521 U.S. at 620 (internal citations omitted).

i. Common Questions of Law and Fact Predominate.

“Rule 23(b)(3) does not mandate that a plaintiff seeking class certification prove that each element of the claim is susceptible to classwide proof.” In re Whirlpool Corp., 722 F.3d at 859. Instead, “[a] claim will meet the predominance requirement when there exists generalized evidence which proves or disproves an element on a simultaneous, class-wide basis, since such proof obviates the need to examine each class member’s individualized position.” In re Foundry Resins Antitrust Litig., 242 F.R.D. at 408 (quoting In re Cardizem CD Antitrust Litig., 200 F.R.D. at 307). Common questions need only predominate; they need not be dispositive of the litigation. Id. (citing In re Potash Antitrust Litig., 159 F.R.D. 682, 693 (D. Minn. 1995)); cf. In re Scrap Metal Antitrust Litig., 527 F.3d at 535-36 (holding issues regarding the amount of damages do not destroy predominance). “[T]he mere fact that questions peculiar to each individual member of the class action remain after the common questions of the defendant’s liability have been resolved does not dictate the conclusion that a class action is impermissible.” Cason-Merenda v. VHS of Mich., Inc., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 131006, at *19-20 (quoting Powers v. Hamilton Cnty. Public Defender Comm., 501 F.3d 595, 619 (6th Cir. 2007)). As pertinent to ADs’ request here to provisionally certify the proposed Settlement Class under Rule

23(b)(3), the Supreme Court recently instructed that “Rule 23(b)(3) requires a showing that questions common to the class predominate, not that those questions will be answered, on the merits, in favor of the class.” Amgen, 133 S.Ct. at 1191.⁴

Because the proposed Settlement Class allege conduct from which all proposed Settlement Class Members’ alleged injuries arise, issues common to the proposed Settlement Class Members—for example, the existence and scope of the alleged price-fixing conspiracy or conspiracies among Defendants, the market impact of Defendants’ conspiracy or conspiracies, and the aggregate amount of damage suffered by the class as a result of the alleged antitrust violations—predominate over any individual questions, and therefore class treatment of the claims is appropriate for purposes of this settlement. See Amchem, 521 U.S. at 625 (“Predominance is a test readily met in certain cases alleging . . . violations of the antitrust laws.”); see also In re Vitamins Antitrust Litig., 209 F.R.D. 251, 254 (D.D.C. 2002) (“[A]s a rule, the allegation of a price-fixing conspiracy is sufficient to establish predominance of common questions[.]”) (quoting NEWBERG ON CLASS ACTIONS § 18.28 at 18-98 (3d ed. 1992)). This Circuit has also held “[p]redominance is a test readily met in certain cases alleging . . . violations of the antitrust laws, because proof of the conspiracy is a common question that is thought to predominate over the other issues of the case.” In re Scrap Metal Antitrust Litig., 527 F.3d at 535 (quoting Amchem, 521 U.S. at 625).⁵ Furthermore, here the evidence that will prove a violation as to one Settlement Class Member is common to the others and will be sufficient to prove it as to all—the anticompetitive conduct is not dependent on the separate conduct of the individual Settlement Class Members. See Packaged Ice, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17255, at *43.

This is true even if there are individual state law issues, as long as the common issues still outweigh the individual ones, e.g., as long as a common theory can be alleged as to liability and impact that can be pursued by the class. See, e.g., In re Whirlpool Corp., 722 F.3d at 861 (“[I]t remains the ‘black letter rule’ that a class may obtain certification under Rule 23(b)(3) when liability questions common to the class predominate over damages questions unique to class members.” (internal quotation marks and citation omitted)); Scrap Metal, 527 F.3d at 535 (where common issues determine liability, fact that damages calculation may involve individualized issues does not defeat predominance). Issues common to the proposed Settlement Class predominate in these cases—all ADs allegedly paid overcharges that were caused by the Defendants’ price-fixing activities. The presence of these common issues of liability and impact predominates over any individual issues and strongly support provisional certification of the proposed Settlement Class.

ii. A Class Action is the Superior Method to Adjudicate These Claims.

Rule 23(b)(3) also requires that a class action be superior to other available methods of fairly adjudicating the controversy. The superiority of class certification over other available methods is measured by consideration of certain factors, including: the class members’ interests in controlling the prosecution of individual actions; the extent and nature of any litigation concerning the controversy already begun by or against class members; the desirability of concentrating the litigation of various claims in the particular forum; and the likely difficulties in managing a class e.g., Cordes & Co. Financial Services, Inc. v. A.G. Edwards & Sons, Inc., 502 F.3d 91, 105 (2d Cir. 2007); Blades v. Monsanto Co., 400 F.3d 562, 572 (8th Cir. 2005); In re Visa Check/MasterMoney Antitrust Litig., 280 F.3d 124, 136 (2d Cir. 2001); In re Blood Reagents Antitrust Litig., 283 F.R.D. 222, 234 (E.D. Pa. 2012); Reed v. Advocate Health Care, 268 F.R.D. 573, 581 (N.D. Ill. 2009); In re Urethane Antitrust Litig., 251 F.R.D. 629, 634 (D. Kan. 2008); Foundry Resins, 242 F.R.D. at 408.

action. Dillworth v. Case Farms Processing, Inc., No. 5:08-cv-1694, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 20446 (N.D. Ohio Mar. 8, 2010).

Courts consistently hold that class actions are a superior method of resolving antitrust claims like those alleged here. See In re Universal Serv. Fund Tel. Billing Practices Litig., 219 F.R.D. 661, 678 (D. Kan. 2004) (noting that individual litigation of antitrust claims would be “grossly inefficient, costly, and time consuming”). Here, the interests of Settlement Class Members in individually controlling the prosecution of separate claims are outweighed by the efficiency of the class mechanism. Cardizem, 200 F.R.D. at 325-26 (finding that class action is superior because it ensures fair and efficient adjudication). Thousands of new-car dealerships purchased new automobiles containing Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts as a component part or indirectly purchased Anti-Vibration Rubber Parts as a replacement part for an automobile during the class periods; resolving these claims in the context of a class action would conserve both judicial and private resources and would hasten the class members’ recovery. See, e.g., In re Foundry Resins, 242 F.R.D. at 411-12 (“Repeatedly litigating the same issues in individual suits would produce duplicate efforts, unnecessarily increase litigation costs, impose an unwarranted burden on this Court and other courts, and create a risk of inconsistent results”).⁶

C. The Proposed Settlement Class Meets the Requirements of Rule 23(b)(2).

If the requirements of Rule 23(a) are met, the Court may also certify a class under Rule 23(b)(2) where: “the party opposing the class has acted or refused to act on grounds that apply generally to the class, so that final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief is appropriate respecting the class as a whole . . .” Claims for non-monetary relief, like those asserted under state laws that do not recognize claims for money damages by indirect purchaser in antitrust actions, are properly certified under Rule 23(b)(2).

III. Notice to the Class Members.

Rule 23(c)(2)(B) requires the Court to “direct to class members the best notice that is practicable under the circumstances, including individual notice to all members who can be identified through reasonable effort.” With regard to class action claims that are settled, Rule 23(e) instructs courts to “direct notice in a reasonable manner to all class members who would be bound by the proposal.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(1). “[D]ue process does not require actual notice, but rather a good faith effort to provide actual notice.” Thacker, 259 F.R.D. at 271-72. To comport with the requirements of due process, notice must be “reasonably calculated to reach interested parties.” Fidel v. Farley, 534 F.3d 508, 514 (6th Cir. 2008) (citing Karkoukli’s, Inc. v. Dohany, 409 F.3d 279, 283 (6th Cir. 2005)).

Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel request that the Court allow them to defer providing notice of this settlement until a later time. ADs will submit a motion for leave to disseminate notice and that motion will include a proposed form of, method for, and date of dissemination of notice with a subsequent group of settlements.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, ADs respectfully request that the motion for preliminary approval be granted and that the Court enter the accompanying Proposed Order:

1. Preliminarily approving the Settlement Agreement;
2. Provisionally certifying the proposed Settlement Class;
3. Staying the proceedings against Yamashita in accordance with the terms of the Settlement Agreement;
4. Authorizing Settlement Class Counsel to provide notice of the Settlement Agreement to members of the Settlement Class at a later time; and

5. Appointing Interim Co-Lead Class Counsel for the ADs as Settlement Class Counsel for this settlement.
